YR 12 FORMAL

The Year 12 formal, which was held at South West Rocks Country Club, was a night filled with fun and fond reminiscing as we celebrated the achievements of the second Year 12 cohort to graduate from Kempsey Adventist School. The girls were absolutely gorgeous and the boys extremely handsome as they dressed up and reveled in the completion of their HSC Examinations and their secondary schooling. One of the highlights of the night were the speeches, as teachers were given the opportunity to talk about their students, and the students returned the favour by sharing some insights into their teachers. It is always amazing to witness the personal impact that staff and students have on each other's lives during their shared time at school and this year that connection was especially evident. Mr Mazzaferri provided the comic relief for the night with his speech about Holly Wells. He could only be topped by Holly herself who provided both hilarious and heartfelt words in her speech about Mrs Green, an entertaining end to an excellent night. While we farewell the Year 12s from the school, they are hopefully not gone from our lives as we look forward to hearing about their adventures in the years to come.

From the Principal...

Teaching Staff Update

In recent weeks both Mrs Hardy (Kindergarten) and Ms Dixon (Yr 1) have announced that due to personal reasons they will not be continuing in their current roles at KAS in 2012. As a school community we thank Mrs Hardy and Ms Dixon for their contribution to the infants area of our school and wish them the very best for 2012. Mrs Hardy is taking a year's leave and we hope that she is able to rejoin us at KAS in 2013.

It is an unfortunate reality of workplaces that overtime there will be changes to staffing and, whilst it is always with sadness that we farewell staff, such occasions also hold the potential for new growth and new opportunities through the appointment of new team members.

KAS considers the staffing of the lower primary classes to be of high significance, as these formative years are critical periods in student learning and the attainment of core skills. Hence, the appointment of new staff into the primary school will always be a considered process, with KAS committed to staffing the school with the very best teachers who are available at this stage of the year.

The process of working through applications and completing interviews should be completed in the coming days, at which time the school should be in a position to announce a finalised list of KAS teaching staff for the 2012 school year. Significantly, this final teaching staff list will reflect a growth in the number of experienced teachers and the appointment of several highly capable younger teachers, all of whom have been selected with the strategic growth of the school's learning program in mind.

Kind Regards
Rohan Deanshaw
KAS Principal

YR 9/10 PHYSICAL ACTIVITY AND SPORTS STUDIES EXCURSION

In early November, the Year 9 and 10 Physical Activity and Sports Studies class went to Hat Head for an activities day. As a part of the day they went surfing, participated in a Year 9 vs Year 10 Ironman Challenge and went to the Hungry Head sand dunes where they enjoyed a variety of activities. It was an excellent day and both the students and the staff had a great time.

HOW TO STOP LITERACY LOSS OVER THE SUMMER

As children's first and most important teachers, families have a major role to play in motivating children to read during the summer months. There are many ways that families can use to encourage summertime reading.

Combine activities with books

Summer leaves lots of time for children to enjoy fun activities, such as going to the beach or seeing a movie. Why not also encourage them to read a book about the activity? If you're going to a sports game, suggest that your child read a book or article about a favourite player beforehand. In the car, you'll have lots of time to talk about the book and the game.

Lead by example

Read the newspaper at breakfast, pick up a magazine at the doctors and pack a paperback into your beach bag. If children see the adults around them reading, they understand that books and other reading material are a fun and important part of their summer days.

Talk it up

Talking with your children about what you have read also lets them know that reading is an important part of your life. Tell them why you liked a book, what you learned from it, or how it helped you. Soon they might start doing the same.

Help children find time to read

By the end of a long, sunny day, children may be too tired to pick up a book. Make some time for reading, such as before bedtime or after breakfast.

Relax the rules for summer

During the school year, children have busy schedules and often have required reading for classes. Summer is a time when children can read what, when, and how they please.

Don't set daily time requirements or decide the number of pages they have to read. Instead, make sure they pick up books for fun and help find ways for them to choose to read on their own.

Have plenty of reading material around

Storybooks aren't the only thing that children can read for fun. Newspapers, magazines and informational material can spark the interest of a young reader. Encourage them to read about an interest or to extend their knowledge.

Use books to break the boredom

Without the regular school regimen, adults and children need more activities to fill the hours. Books that teach children how to make or do something are a great way to get children reading and keep them occupied.

Read aloud with children

Take your children to see a local storyteller—or be one yourself. The summer months leave extra time for enthusiastic read-alouds with children, no matter their age. Find your inner actor and improvise different voices or wear a silly hat to make the story that much more interesting! Starting an engrossing book at the start of the holidays can become a highly anticipated part of the day for all the family.
