Term Three

18 September 2013

From The Principal...

MOVING FORWARD

Each year, the end of Term Three marks the end of classes for our school's current Year 12 class. Hence, on Friday this week, 13 years of formal schooling for our Year 12 students will have been completed and, following their HSC exams after the mid-semester break, they will embark on the next stage of their lives.

As a school we have a number of traditions that serve to acknowledge this important milestone in their lives, including a breakfast at school on Friday morning, where our Secondary staff serve the Year 12 students prior to them participating in the final Year 12 Chapel program of the year. This chapel program is designed to highlight the achievements of the Year 12 class and also hand the baton on to the Year 11 class by announcing the new school captains who will take up their posts from the start of Term 4. Of course, parents are welcome to attend this chapel.

Following the mid-semester break, our Year 12 students will be participating in the school's annual Study Camp program at the Yarrahapinni Ecology Centre, where the final steps will be taken in preparation for the HSC exams which commence the following week.

The Year 12 Formal will follow the completion of the HSC exams, after which many of our Year 12 students will be travelling to Nepal to complete a service project in the Chitwan Province. The legacy created by our Year 12 students who have also completed post-HSC service projects in locations such as Cambodia, is something that each one of us as school community members can be proud of.

I'm reminded of a famous quote which goes something like, "What the world needs today is not more wealth, power, position or possessions. What the world needs most is men and women whose characters will withstand the challenges that life will throw at them, men and women who will stand with integrity, despite the world spinning around them."

Unquestionably, it is our hope as a school that our graduating Year 12 students will take from KAS far more than simply a formal education. We hope that the life lessons they have had the opportunity to experience at the school will stand them in good stead, and that the characters they have developed in their time at the school will mark them as young adults of integrity, authenticity and value.

Of course, as a school we wish them all the best as they sit their HSC exams. We know that they have been well prepared by their teachers, and the final weeks which they spend in preparation and study will see them reap the benefits of the efforts they have made to this point in time.

Best wishes to our graduating class of 2013 and welcome to our new senior class and our new student leaders. Best wishes also to our whole school community for the holiday break. I'll look forward to seeing you all back at KAS for Term Four.

Kind Regards
Rohan Deanshaw
KAS Principal

How to give your kids a healthy media diet

With so many new programs and technology coming out all the time -- many of which are aimed at kids -- it's hard to tell what's good, what's age-appropriate, and what has the "nutritional value" to entertain -- and hopefully educate -- your kids.

But by keeping three simple rules in mind, you can help serve your kids a healthy media diet. Here's how:

Use media together. Whenever you can, watch, play, and listen with your kids. Talk about the content. When you can't be there, ask them about the media they've used. Help kids question and analyze media messages. Share your own values

Be a role model. When kids are around, set an example by using media the way you want them to use it. Don't bring your phone to the dinner table, and turn the television off when it's not actively being watched. Record shows that may be inappropriate for your kids to watch -- even the news -- and watch them later, when kids aren't around.

Keep an eye on the clock. Keep an eye on how long kids spend online, in front of the television, watching movies, playing video games. The secret to healthy media use is to establish time limits and stick to them -- before your kids turn on and tune in.

School holiday story time and cupcake decorating activity at Kempsey Library

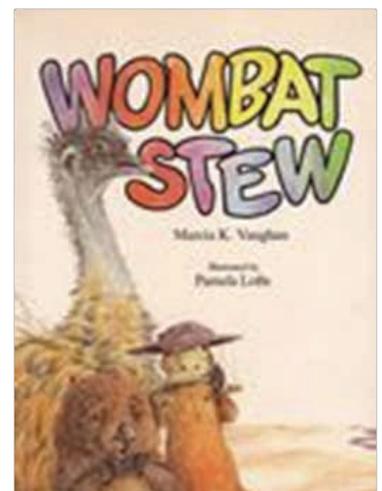

Join Angie and Ruth at Kempsey Library on Friday 27 September at 10.30am for a special story time and cupcake decorating activity.

Angie will read Wombat Stew, by Marcia K. Vaughan - a story about wily, wild Dingo dog who catches a poor, woebegone Wombat and decides to make Wombat stew. The other animals try to save Wombat by insisting that the stew will not be complete without blobs of mud, feathers, flies, "slugs and bugs and creepy crawlies", and gumnuts. Much to the animals' delight, the concoction tastes so terrible that Dingo howls and runs away, never again to sing about "yummy, chewy, Wombat stew".

After the story, Ruth will help kids decorate their own cupcake.

All ages are welcome – parents are to assist with pre-school aged children.

Bookings are essential and must be made on or before Wednesday 25 September. Contact the library on 6566 3210, or send an email to ksclibrary@kempsey.nsw.gov.au

PRIMARY SCHOOL ANNOUNCEMENTS

TERM OF READING – READING IS FUN

Reading is fun! Wow, what a term it has been! We have listened to stories read by Year 6 outside, enjoyed stories read by different teachers, sent letters to authors, read in unusual places, bought books from the Book Fair, dressed up as book characters, enjoyed a talk by an author, read with a partner three times a week and taken part in a reading marathon. I hope that all of the children now understand that reading is enjoyable, challenging, emotional, life-changing and, above all, FUN! Thank you to you all for supporting your children during the term.

This week: Paired reading finishes, Diamond award winners = special book-related reward time!

Next week: You can read at home as much as you like!!!

Top tip: Use Reading Eggs or Lexia at home. Ask your teacher for a Lexia disc.

The final day of school for each term is traditionally an out of uniform day in the primary school. This term is no different. Students who choose to come to school out of uniform must wear closed in shoes and clothing that covered the shoulders. Clothing is not to have negative symbols e.g. skulls, devils, dragons etc. A gold coin donation is expected for the privilege of wearing other clothes and this money goes towards our Asian Aid sponsor children.

FRIDAY CELEBRATION DAY

If your child receives their Diamond Award this term they will also receive a letter notifying parents of the events of the day. Students who receive either the Gold or Silver will participate in part of the event for the day.
